MOTIONTEMPS, LLC SELECTED AS FEATURED BUSINESS AT IDEA CAFÉ®

PARIS – Two years ago when Chicago-native Carolyn Moncel started her business, MotionTemps, LLC (<http://www.motiontemps.com>), a virtual management and communications firm, she had no “idea” that entrepreneurship would take her to a new continent.

“Idea” is the keyword because her business currently is featured on Idea Café® (<http://www.ideacafe.com>), an online business community forum for small-business owners. Of the many business-owner profiles submitted, only the best are showcased on the web site. Idea Café® is an eight-year-old site that describes itself as a “fun place for business,” but also provides new business owners, like Moncel, with much-needed resources for starting and running businesses. Despite no advertising, the site ranks No. 9 among the top 10 online small-business centers on the Internet.

Moncel’s profile highlights her reasons for starting her own business, the perks and quirks in running a business on a daily basis while raising two small daughters, and how her business objectives have changed due to a recent move to Paris.

“When my husband was transferred to Paris almost a year ago, I couldn’t fathom the idea of giving up a business that I loved so much, so I just brought it with me,” said Moncel, a former PR and marketing manager. “However the information found at the Idea Café has helped me to restructure my business, thereby allowing me to service clients both in Chicago and Paris; and when I need a shoulder to lean on, I can always visit Cyberschmooz™ and talk shop at the virtual water cooler with other business owners.”
